

“Learning from the living room”
A significant component of our future learning ecosystems by Daniel S. Christian

Smart/connected “televisions”

Mobile devices used by students

Also, from the presenter’s side of things...

The presenter is able to obtain the data for that presentation stream re: when the questions were asked -- and optionally by whom -- if and when he/she lost some people, see answers to polls, etc.

Students can take notes and store their notes on the cloud. Optionally, students can share their notes or not.

Such systems could also feed learner profiles on the cloud.